Solar concept

Citel manufactures technical fabrics designed for solar protection, controlling the entire process from spinning to the finished product.

The influence of the sun, the effect of the light, varying temperatures throughout the day and the many colors displayed on our fabrics by the sun on a daily basis are our inspiration for creating fabrics that are durable, high quality and functional.

This is why for this catalogue we have represented the various characteristics of our products as the way the sun moves across the sky over the course of a day.

CHARACTERISTICS AND ADVANTAGES

DOCRIL® is the flagship brand for our solution-dyed acrylic fabric. DOCRIL canvas was designed to meet all the demanding components required by the sun protection market. Those components are related to the elements that stand out, such as colorfastness, water repellency, UV protection, breathability, and dimensional stability.

Choose Docril for:

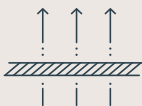

Its UV protection. Docril has a very compact structure thanks to the number of threads per m2 and the quality of the fibers, it can block up to 90% of the sun’s UV rays.

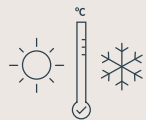

Its Safe & Clean property gives a protective barrier to the fabric that allows it to be self-cleaning, facilitating its maintenance. Thanks to its score of 6 in the Oil Test (the highest oil repellency score) combined with the score of 100 in the spray test (the highest water repellency rating). The effect of these two results means that splashes, dry spots, and spills can be easily cleaned with a clean cloth or a soft bristle brush.

The mass dying process incorporates the pigments inside the fiber molecules, obtaining an intrinsic, uniform, and long-lasting color. The resulting fabrics are hardly affected by UV rays, guaranteeing the persistence and brightness of the color brilliance over years of outdoor exposure. According to current standards, Docril holds the highest score, 7-8, on the blue scale.

Excellent breathability. Docril fabrics facilitate the circulation of humidity and air, reducing the sensation of heat and at the same time offering a feeling of thermal protection when it is cooler.

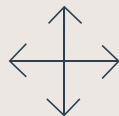

Balanced structure. Docril fabric has the perfect balance to deliver the required consistency for the body without it being too heavy, ensuring the proper functioning of the assembly where the fabric is installed, such as in the awning hardware.

Behavior and durability in the open. Docril fabrics are suitable for exposure to the elements and for making solar protection systems due to compliance with the demanding EN13561 European standard required to obtain the CE marking for the entire set of materials that form an awning.

Resistance to water penetration. Docril fabrics have a water column resistance of 35 cm of water column (amount of water that the fabric supports, accumulated vertically before it begins to filter and drip).

Unbeatable dimensional stability. Docril is not deformed by climatic changes or by rolling and unrolling during use.

Wide range of colors. With over 200 solid colors, textured colors and designs.

When used in awnings, it is very important to allow the fabric to dry completely before rolling it up.

QUALITY

Made in the EU

We manufacture all our fabrics in Spain, complying with the EU's quality and safety guidelines.

10-Year Warranty

We are fully committed to the quality and resistance of our fabrics. Any abnormal deterioration of the physical properties and color of the Docril fabrics is covered, as long as maintenance advice has been properly followed.

Docril® Safe & Clean

Our special Safe&Clean finish guarantees that Docril fabrics are safe and self-cleaning, as it generates a protective barrier that repels dirt. The liquid stains form small droplets that slide easily across the surface without penetrating the fabric, thus facilitating its cleaning and maintenance.

Eco long-lasting

We create long-lasting fabrics because our fundamental approach to sustainability is that there is no better way to protect the environment than by consuming less.
